LABOR PEACE ASSURED

Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

The regulations of industry by government bureaux have become so numerous and comprehensive that recently an official of the National Association of Manufacturers stated that practically all plant managers have become branch managers for the government. In the case of "unlimited national emergency" as this has been declared to be by President Roosevelt, no patriotic citizen will be heard to complain, and in fact the managers of defense industries are not complaining except when official bungling slows down production.

But while business, is now and has been for some years prior to the emergency, regulated by government, more and more latitude has been permitted labor organizations, both by law and by administration favors. The President in his recent fire-side chat, or as the Japanese call it, his "talk in the vicinity of the stove" again stressed duty of both employers and workers to work in harmony for the national defense, human nature being what it is, we do not expect that harmony until by one means or another it is compelled. Labor as represented by John L. Lewis, has long flouted the President's wishes, and various groups of labor dominated by communists, such as longshoreman and marine workers, never have, and do not now, give a tinker's dam for the President and his fireside chats. The only voice they hear comes from the inner councils of the Kremlni.

Unless the President is at length prepared to regulate labor groups and their activities as industry is now regulated, his fire-side chats are just a futility. While he talks the fires of internal dissension burn higher and brighter, until the fire-side has ignited strictly national issues so that the flame roars to the skies, and the chat is drowned in the crash of domestic battles. What becomes then of defense efforts? They go by the board, just as the machinsts strike in San Francisco has virtually halted work on a half billion dollars worth of naval and commercial ships. And, as a matter of fact, a large percentage of work stoppages are due to jurisdictional disputes between labor unions, in which neither of the brawlers has any quarrel with their employer. There surely, a government, possessed of as many powers as is the Roosevelt administration, could intervene to compel peace between labor groups, in which employer, like the general public is only an abused and suffering bystander. But thus far nothing to this end, of a premanent character, is accomplished. True, the Mediation Board has stopped a number of strikes, usually between employer and worker. But like the seven-year itch, one part of the body politic is no sooner balmed and soothed, than the irritation breaks out in a new spot.

We hear that the FBI is making thorough investigations of labor leaders on the West Coast, who have been most identified with strikes, which seem peculiarly designed to cripple the defense industries. Something may come of it, but when we reflect upon the many and futile efforts made to rid the country of just one subversive alien, Harry Bridges, we are not sanguine of results. The FBI can dig up a world of evidence, but someone more authoritative than the FBI must act upon it.

We call on the President for leadership. He responds with a fire-side chat. A little more palaver and paltering, a few more

L. Johnson Final Rites Tomorrow

Rosary Service To Be Held At Holmes Funeral Home Tonight

A rosary service will be held at the Holmes Funeral Home here at 8 o'clock tonight for Mrs. Lucille Johnson, who died near her home on Nevada Street Saturday night after being seized with a heart attack.

The funeral services for Mrs. Johnson will be held at the St. Canice Catholic Church here at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning with Father Patrick O'Reilly officiating. The body will then be taken by the Holmes Funeral Home to the Holy Cross Cemetery in San Francisco for burial.

The death of Mrs. Johnson saddened Nevada City residents. She was a member of a pioneer family and resided most of her life in this city.

Mrs. Johnson had talked with a group of friends a short time before her collapse. At that time she displayed no signs of illness. The autopsy performed by Dr. Bernard W. Hummelt showed her death was due to a heart condition.

Earl E. Johnson, the husband, who has been working in Susanville as an accountant, was immediately notified and he arrived here yesterday.

Besides her husband, the deceased laves a son, Marshall Johnson, of this city.

TWO INJURED IN 200 FOOT AUTO PLUNGE

The two were saved from possible drowning by Mike Wessel, a prospector, who saw the machine plunge down the embankment. The car partially was submerged.

The Holmes amublance service of this city was utilized in taking the two injured persons to Sacramento. Emergency treatment was given in Downieville by Dr. Sutton. The condition of Mrs. Magneson is regarded as serious.

INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Douglas La Montague of Downieville was injured Saturday when his automobile, after colloding with another car, plunged off the highway near Downieville. The accident was investigated by Traffic Officer Andrew Ponta of Downieville.

Nugget Editorial "Refreshing"

The Nugget is proud to reprint the following editorial from the Mining and Contracting Review:

REFRESHING

Strange is the spineless editorial policy of many mining community newspapers in treating matters pertaining to racketeers and radicals who promote strikes and labor unrest that harm operations without which the publication could not exist.

It is refreshing to read such editorials as the following about the attempt to destroy the contractural obligations existing between the Nevada County Miners Protective League and the gold mine operators of the Grass Valley, California district. It is from the Nevada City Nugget:

How long will it take strike "benefits" coming in at the rate of $100 a week to offset the loss of wages at the rate of $6,000 a day?

If the wage demand of 50 cents a day increase were granted, and the strikers are out of work a month, how many months, or years at the new wage rate will it take to offset the month's loss of wages?

Did a certain organizer, who, when he first hit town, took a room in the Holbrooke Hotel, but recently moved into the more luxurious Bret Harte Inn, inherit money from a deceased aunt?

The "deceased aunt" of the editorial is the contribution of the miner in dues more often than not used to provide the organizer and racketeer with thick steaks and luxurious quarters while the miner and his family eat substandard food and face eviction from their homes.

What this country needs most are more Nevada City Nuggets and national leaders who would not cringe before the Lewises, the Bridges and their ilk.

Triple Play Feature Of Ball Contest Yesterday; Locals Beat Placerville

Thrills of every nature, including a triple play in the ninth inning, was provided fans who witnessed the Nevada City-Placerville Foothill League baseball game at Cashin's Field yesterday afternoon.

Oh, yes, Nevada City walked off with the ball game by a score of 17 to 3.

The Nevada City squad chalked up the triple play when Placerville had two men on base in the ninth inning. A ground ball was hit to Thirdbaseman Haddy, who touched third and then tossed to Hobart Childers at the firstbase to put the batter out. Childers then threw to secondbaseman Jack Bloomquist, who tagged the runner seeking safety at the keystone sack to complete the triple killing, which is one of the most unique plays in baseball and seldom witnessed by ball fans.

Bill Livesay showed possibility of being a good chucker in setting down the Placerville nine, which dumped Grass Valley 7 to 1 on the previous Sunday, with but seven scattered blows. Livesay walked but one batter.

Ainsley Fouyer caught a good game and really iced the contest up for the locals when he tripled, the longest hit of the day, with two men on base. Each Nevada City player got at least two hits except Kirsey.

Next Sunday the locals will meet the Grass Valley Braves at Grass Valley. A large turnout of local ball fans is expected for the contest.

Gold Discovery Again In Nevada City; Assay Shop Floor Produces Four Ounces Of Metal

Hal Draper, local assayer, is finding the job of moving is not so bad after all.

Already from the floor of the former assay shop located on Commercial Street, Draper gathered amalgam and small pieces of gold totaling approximately four ounces.

And now the local assayer has a miner sluicing the dirt underneath the floor and it is expected a couple of additional ounces of the precious metal will be obtained.

The gold apparently escaped in melting and other handling in Draper's shop.

Draper is moving from the old brick building on the corner of Commercial and Main Streets to Pine and Commercial Streets. The gold discovered will more than pay for the expense of moving Draper stated.

Will Be Here Tomorrow—

Leland Elam, magazine writer and photographer, is due to arrive here tomorrow. He will gather information on hydraulic mining and will take color pictures of the Relief Hill Hydraulic Mine.

AFL Drops Plan To Resume Strike At I-M Properties

ABANDONING TALK OF RESUMING THE STRIKE AT THE IDAHO-MARYLAND AND NEW BRUNSWICK MINES, THE GOLD MINERS UNION OF THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR LAST NIGHT DECIDED TO GIVE BENEFITS TO AFL MEMBERS ASSERTEDLY DISCHARGED AT THE TWO MINES FOR DISCRIMINATION AND TO FIND THEM SUITABLE EMPLOYMENT.

The meeting lasted approximately two and one half hours. There were nearly 300 in attendance at the gathering, which was held in the Veterans Memorial Building in Grass Valley.

A report was made at the meeting that the Scotia Mine officials informed an AFL committee no acts of discrimination have been intended or will be followed at the Scotia property, where an AFL strike was in effect at the same time of the strike at the Idaho-Maryland and New Brunswick properties.

Jess Johnson, secretary of the Gold Miners Union, reported at the meeting no answer was received by the AFL to a communication directed to the Idaho-Maryland Mines Corporation last week, protesting the alleged acts of discrimination, a charge which the corporation officials have denied.

Organizer Charles Daley came up from San Francisco for the meeting. Plans were discussed for a dance on July third.

Charles Bennetts Tells Of Need To Eliminate Hump At Local Airport

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bennetts, who flew to Nevada City for a weekend visit with Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Bennetts, returned to their home on the peninsla this morning. Charles Bennetts pilots his own airplane.

He reports landing on the airport here is rather tricky and only experienced pilots care to set their planes down on the airfield. The removal of a hump in the runway would eliminate any possible hazard and would make the airport accessible even to inexperienced fliers.

The local chamber of commerce is working to secure funds for the elimination of the hump. An effort is being made to secure the cooperation of the city council on the project.

Here From Sacramento—

Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Wright of Sacramento, former residents, were Memorial and weekend visitors here.

The Strike Menace

Our nation is face to face with labor conditions which threaten its future.

Labor dictatorship which can force men to leave their jobs regardless of their own wishes, the welfare of the nation and indefiance of government itself, is inexcusable.

After all, it is the men, women and children in the United States whose lives, liberty and happiness are at stake in our preparedness drive. No labor dictator can save them from an aggressor, if his acts cause a breakdown in our defense ability. Witness the fallen countries of Europe.

The public favors good wages, fair hours, the best working conditions and everything within reason that labor has stood for. But, it will finally turn on corruption and arrogance in labor management which threaten the life of a nation, and the right to work for the safety of home and family.

Hundreds of thousands of boys from homes throughout the land are training for the army. Ask them if they have enough rifles, machine guns, airplanes, tanks, anti-tank guns, anti-aricraft guns, enough ammunition for practice—enough of anything?

The boys in training are offering their lives for the nation. Strikers who are deferred from military service at high pay, who shut off coal supplies and manufactured products which are indispensable, actually imperil the lives of the boys who are serving their country for $30.00 a month.

Commenting on methods for remedying this intolerable situation, the New York Times says editorially that the President should permit the National Defense Mediation Board to intervene in any existing or threatened labor dispute on its own motion without having to wait for the Secretary of Labor to "certify" a dispute to it.

Second. Congress should enact a law for defense industries paralleling the Railway Labor Act which requires employers or representatives of workers to give "at least thirty days' written notice of an intended change in agreements affecting rates of pay, rules or working conditions." during which time collective bargaining conferences should be held or the services of the MediationBoard utilized. While no positive legal penalty s suggested for striking in defiance of such provision. it is pointed out that a negative legal penalty seems essential. namely, that workers striking in defiance of such provisions. should lose the right under the Wagner Act to still be considered employees of the company against which they struck.

Concluding its suggestions, the Times said: "While strikes should not be outlawed, neither should they be encouraged by governmental policy. State and federal labor laws should be revised where necessary to embody the principle that while men are free to quit their jobs at will, they are not free to forcibly prevent other men from taking those jobs. On the same principle employers should not be prevented from offering those jobs to men willing to take them. This means that mass picketing and violence to workers who attempt to enter a plant must not be tolerated by local auohtrities or by local law. It means also that federal law should not in effect condone or encourage such violence."

These are moderate suggestions that our lawmakers must heed if they honestly want to curb the strike evil and reduce the danger or irreparable loss to our country.

Here's To Back-Seat Drivers!

Wonders will never cease. A day or two ago, James M. Carter, director of the State Motor Vehicle Department, told the members of the State Federation of Women's Clubs that the back-seat driver, far from being a pest, is an aid to safety and an asset to motoring humanity.

"Don't be ashamed of being a back-seat driver,' Mr. Carter told the ladies. "California needs more of them. It's a highly useful and honorable calling. It isn't nagging to ask the members of your family to drive more carefully. It's just good common sense.!"

Now, gentlemen, where does the driver sit? We ask you! —Contributed.

Europe Comes Nearer

That new Douglas bomber, the B-19, the world's largest airplane, has taken off from Santa Monica. The Army is giving it a work-out, trying its wings.

What of it, you say? Isn't it just another airplane?

Well, let's consider: This new plane, which we have built, will fly from the United States to Europe and back again—carrying 18 tons of bombs in addition to its load of gasoline!

And if we can build such a plane, perhaps Germany can. Possibly Japan can.

It's a small world; truly it is. A war-like world. And we sit right in the middle of it!—Contributed.

fire-side chats, inspiring, indeed, if they meant what words usually mean, delays here and there, strikes breaking sporadically and persistently in the major defense industries, and our effort will prove "too little and too late." We hear frequent references to "social gains," and wonder. If our social gains prove fetters binding us hand and foot, as the human preditors approach, of what value are they? If national unity proves impossible after a long national spree in reform and relief measures that measured by any yardstick have failed to raise the standard of living in any degree, have positively lowered the national morale, of what value are they?

THIS WEEK in DEFENSE

Federal Loan Administrator Jones announced the allocation of $650,000,000 for use in enlarging and speeding the bomber program by building government owned plants and increasing the supply of essential materials.

The War Department announced the award of contracts totaling $322,500,000 for 22 ton bombers to be produced at new government owned plants at Fort Worth, Tex., and Tulsa, Okla. The department described the award of the contracts as a "major step toward the 500 bombers a month goal" set by the President when he said the democracies must achieve superiority in the air. OPM Director Knudsen asked airplane manufacturers to prepare to make an undisclosed additional number of heavy bombers.

The navy reported its air program "slightly ahead of schedule" with 3,500 planes on hand May 1, as compared with 2,172 ten months before. The department said that by January 1942, its training program will supply sufficient pilots for 15,000 planes, its goal.

Cost Of Living

Labor Secretary Perkins announced a 2.2 per cent rise in the cost of living in larger cities above the 1935 1939 average and 3.7 per cent above August 1939, just prior to the European war. She said food prices were up 5 per cent over last autumn, rent up 0.3 per cent in the last month, and clothing up 2.2 per cent. The Labor Department reported, however, the earnings of workers in the manufacturing industries advanced to new high levels—5.4 per cent more than March, 1940, with average hourly earnings at 69.7 cents, or $29.11 a week.

Selective Service

Congress amended the Selective Service Act to exempt from service under the Act former regulars and reservists of the Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard. Deputy Director Hershey announced that although the Army has sufficient dental and veterinary officers, dentists and veterinaries and students in these professions should be deferred to avoid a civilian shortage.

Public Attitude

Willian Batt, Deputy Defense Production Director, speaking in Washington, said, OPM, War and Navy officials are not satisfied with defense progress.

"I do not want a single man or woman to feel we are right on the verge of becoming the arsenal of democracy," Mr. Batt said. We cannot produce . . . and preserve our standard of living in terms of electric conveniences and leisure hours. A radical change of attitude must take place if we are to make good our promises to the defenders of freedom. . ."

Mr. Batt said business must be willing to expand without immediate regard for individual futures, labor must forget its differences in deference to more work, and Government must not allow politics or bureaucracy to interfere with defense.

Foreign Trade

President Roosevelt, opening Foreign Trade Week, said "the dictator nations already have achieved serious economic encirclement of the U. S." He said all Americans would fight against the economic slavery to which Germany and her allies would subject the world.

Raymond Geist, State Department Chief of Commercial Affairs, speaking in New York, said the international situation poses the question whether the peril confronting the nation "lies more in the struggle itself or in the cancerous post-war economic processes" of an unfair peace. He said it would be fatal if Germany won because the U. S. would be compelled to adopt economic methods "which would slowly undermine our prosperity and our democratic way of life." Secretary of State Hull said after the war all nations should cooperate in international trade free from discrimination.

Other Activities

Congress increased the pay of parachute troop officers by $100 a month and the pay of enlisted parachutists by $50 a month, and authorized training of enlisted men as pilots . . . The Army announced testing of secret methods of combatting blitz warfare . . . The Treasury sold $257,650,000 of Defense Bonds in the first 17 days—"better than expected" . . . The President reduced his request for relief funds for 1942 by $109,000,000. . . The Commerce Department reported exports to Japan running 48 percent less than last year.

Richter And Son Dredge Now Operating Near Downieville

Richter and Son, who have been engaging in a dredging operation near Freeman's Crossing, have recently completed the work of moving their equipment to Indian Valley and are now engaged in assembling the dredge to operate on the Ponta Ranch there.

It is understood that they have recently secured a lease from the Pacific Gas and Electric Co., granting them th operating rights and an action in Superior court this week to quiet title to additional property has removed the last legal barrier to their proposed operation.

The Ponta Ranch has long been classed as one of the very few remaining gravel bars along the North Yuba that carries potential gold values in worthwhile proportions and among mining men here, the belief is almost egneral that Richter and Son have selected a most desirable property for exploitation.

The Richter dredge operated at Scotts Flat above Nevada City for about two years.

It is difficult to say which may be most mischevios to the human heart the praise or the dispraise of men.

It takes a great deal of grace to be able to bear praise. Censure seldom does us much hurt.

Forest Supervisor Warns of Fire Dangers; Announces Regulations Effective For Season

Supervisor Guerdon Ellis of the Tahoe National Forest has declared that extreme hazard and danger of forest fires exists between June 1, and October 15, especially in the brush lands and timbered belt.

Under authority vested in Supervisor Ellis by Federal regulations and the regional forester, the following instructions are to be in effect for this period and are issued for the benefit and guidance of all residents and visitors on the Tahoe National Forest:

CAMPFIRE PERMITS

1. Campfire permit and a shovel and an axe will be required of all motorists and pack train travelers camping in the Tahoe National Forest.

(a) These permits are free and are good for the entire season of 1941. They are required for all campfires including those in the open or in trailer houses.

(b) They do not authorize burning of debris, trash, brush, slash, or grass. For such burning it is necessary that a state burning permit be obtained. These may be procured from state rangers for areas outside the forest boundaries. For areas inside the forest burning permits may be had from forest rangers on the Tahoe National Forest.

(c) Campfire permits are invalid unless signed on the reverse side and accompanied by a shovel and an axe.

(d) In order that suitable tools shall be available to compers should the need for protection arise, the following minimum specifications have been set up and must be adhered to:

Shovel—overall length, 36 inches, blade 8 inches wide. Axe—overall length 26 inches, head, 2 or more pounds in weight.

Campfire permits can be secured from forest officers, state game wardens, state fire wardens in the vicinity of the Tahoe National Forest, and from the officers of the California Automobile Association and other designated agents.

SMOKING PROHIBITIONS

2. Smoking permitted and prohibited as follows:

(a) Smoking below the 7000 foot elevation shall be prohibited except at improved campgrounds, places of habitation and in special smoking areas designated by posted signs.

(b) Smoking is permitted in all areas above the 7000 foot elevation. However, these areas are not fireproof and smokers should exercise the same care in the disposal of the matches, cigaret stubs, etc, as in the areas below the 7000 foot elevation.

(c) Private, county and all forest roads coming under the jurisdiction of the forest service are closed to smoking by motorists, hikers or riders.

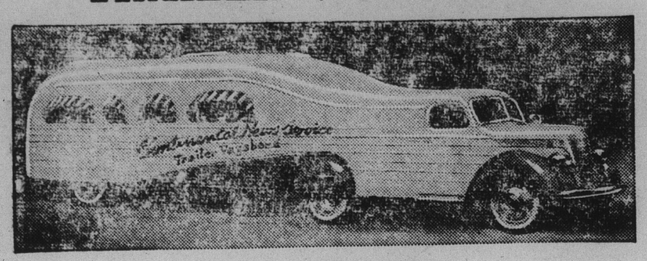
(d) Throwing any lighted tobacco, ashes, or any burning material or substance which may cause fire, from a moving vehicle, is a violation of the California Penal Code, Section 384, Subdivision 6.

NO FIREWORKS

3 The entire Tahoe National Forest is closed to the discharge of fireworks of all kinds.

Supervisor Ellis stated: "The purpose of the instructions outlined above is to remind forest users that the utmost care must be exercised in handling fire during the long dry summer season so characteristic of California. Every live spark left uncontrolled is a potential forest fire and may result in a tragic holocaust. Drown every spark with water, then cover it with mineral soil; this is the simplest and most effecttive precaution. The past few years have seen a gradual decrease in the number of fires and burned acreage due to careless campers, fishermen and hunters. With continued cooperation from the public in strict observance of fire precautions the yearly losses to this state of timber, property, recreation values wild,ife, and even human lives will be reduced to a minimum."

"TRAILER VAGABOND"



By WARREN BAYLEY

This feature appears through the courtesy of O. K. Tire Weld Co. G. R. (Red) Jarrard, Hills Flat, Grass Valley, California.

Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Near the center of its state, this pleasant city of broad boulevards and elm-lined drives boasts 310 days of sunshine a year and a summer temperature that never tops 69 degrees.

It offers everything in the way of sports, good climate and entertainment that a vacationer could desire, but I came here to see its impressive surrounding mountains and the most famous one in America—Pikes Peak.

This snow-capped mountain pokes itself 14,110 feet up out of a clear, balmy atmosphere that is well known for its healthful qualities.

Heading westward towards this peak, we turned off to admire the beautiful Garden of The Gods, 25 miles from town and holding a scattered collection of awe inspiring rock pinnacles. Rising out of the rolling, green meadows of the park, these strange, jagged formations range in size from small pillars to towering stacks of rugged stone. This beautiful spot is all that its name implies.

Continuing on our journey we passed through Manitou Springs, a pretty resort town nestled against the hills. Pine forests began to thicken, growing dense as we started to climb in earnest.

The 18 mile road up Pikes Peak is a marvel of engineering skill and was a tough job to build. Plunging through rock ridges and clinging to precipitous canyon walls, it is the scene of an annual Labor Day Automobile Race to the summit. Its hairpin turns and twisting length is a challenge to the dare-devil drivers of the nation. Safe for ordinary traffic, those curves must require real skill to negotiate at top speed. A cog railroad also climbs this towering peak and visitors may go up by Diesel power in smart, streamlined single coaches. It is the steepest railroad I ever saw.

This is the country Teddy Roosevelt was describing when he spoke of "The trip that bankrupts the English language." The tremendous sweeps of country visible from the lofty twists and turns of the road left us speechless. The Rockies are at their best right here.

Levelling off on Pikes Peak itself we found a rather desolate but surprisingly broad area at hand. Viewed from the valleys below, the knife-like ridge-peak appears to be only a few feet wide.

This view from our vantage point seemed to take in the ends of the earth. Cheyenne Mountain, bearing the now famous monument to Will Rogers, loomed to the south — the highest mountain in the world rising directly from a plain. Westward beyond more mountains and valleys lay the Cripple Creek mining country that has produced fortunes in gold and still sends its yellow hoard to the mammoth gold-reduction plant on the outskirts of Colorado Springs. That city was a toy village, far, far below. There were no clouds in the crisp, thin air to break up the magnificent panorama.

Words cannot do proper justice to the beauty of this country, the sight of which convinces this globe-trotter that the scenery of our North American continent matches any the world can offer.

We're operating the most economical Tire Mold in the world that's why we can give you the best price.

'ADAM HAD FOUR SONS' TO OPEN HERE TUESDAY

There is a new star on the Hollywood horizon, two current favorites gain in stellar brightness and a new supply of featured player talent comes to light on the screen.

Such appears to summarize audience reaction to the first sneak preview of "Adam Had Four Sons" the Robert C. Sherwood production for Columbia release which stars Ingrid Bergman and Warner Baxter at the Nevada Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday. That and a feeling that the picture, dealing with American family life during the exciting period from 1907 to 1923, is one of the year's most highly charged emotional dramas.

Preview cards handed in by the audience after the preview stressed the vibrant performance of young Susan Hayward, who plays Hester, a modern Scarlet O'Hara, in this filming of the Charls Bonner novel, "Legacy". The story's theme has to do with Baxter's struggle to rear four motherless sons, and from the moment Miss Hayward enters the family her titian tresses fly like a danger signal over the heads of all five good looking males.

The two current stars who enrich their laurels in "Adam Had Four Sons" are Baxter and Miss Bergmon, the latter making her second American appearance. Fay Wray, Helen Westley, Johnny Downs, Richard Denning, Robert Shaw and Charles Lind were among supporting players singled out for plaudits and Gregory Ratoff's direction was highly praised.

Mrs. F. T. Nilon and Mrs. William Nilon of San Francisco were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E E. Barker over the holiday week end.
